

Administrative Office of the Courts

MEDIA ADVISORY

Editors, Producers and Reporters:

Supreme Court Chief Justice David K. Thomson will speak Monday at a ceremony to honor women in New Mexico history.

Time: 10 a.m. MDT.

Date: Monday, June 24.

Place: Supreme Court Law Library
27 Don Gaspar Ave.
Santa Fe, NM

The International Women's Forum of New Mexico and the City of Santa Fe will conduct the ceremony to dedicate historic markers celebrating three Santa Fe women. Click here for more information about the event.

The markers are located along the Santa Fe River near the Supreme Court Building and are part of the New Mexico Historic Women Marker Program, which was established in 2006. Through that program, the lives and accomplishments of more than 100 women are honored at historic markers across the state. In Albuquerque, there are historic markers profiling the first female justice of the New Mexico Supreme Court, Mary Coon Walters, and the Court's first female chief justice, Pamela Minzner.

###

NOTE: Members of the press planning to cover the event will need approval from the Court to bring cameras or other electronic devices into the Supreme Court Building. Contact Barry Massey at 505-470-3436 or bmassey@nmcourts.gov

Chief Justice David K. Thomson